

JEAN ELIOT TELLS OF CHARITY BALL

"Hardy Annual" at Willard Great Success, Though the Crowd Was Not So Big.

USUAL ECCENTRICS ABSENT

Throng of Distinguished Men and Well-Dressed Women Give Private Aspect.

The charity ball for the Children's Hospital, a "hardy annual" and always one of the gayest affairs of the winter season, was at its gayest last evening, and seldom has the great ball room of the Willard housed a more interesting company. To be sure, the crowd seemed smaller than usual, which may have been a bit discouraging to the organizers of the ball but it made it all the nicer for those who were there. Although the floor was filled and well filled through the evening, no time was wasted in dancing, and the throng of the crowd, and in the supper room there were seats for all without the usual wait.

No Eccentrics There. Moreover, there was a conspicuous absence of the odd looking and eccentrically-dressed persons who usually flock to such semi-public functions, and the throng of distinguished men and smart women in handsome gowns had all the air of a brilliant private ball.

Of course, the President and Mrs. Wilson were there. No charity ball has been quite complete in many years without the presence of the Chief Executive. They came on from the dinner the Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. McAdoo gave in their honor, they occupied the big stage box at one side of the ball room, and they stayed until long after midnight, displaying a keen interest in the ever shifting scene below them.

White House Party. Mrs. Wilson's mother, Mrs. Bolling, who came in on the arm of Col. W. W. Harts, the President's aide; her sister, Miss Bolling; Miss Helen Woodrow Bones and Miss Edith Bonham were in the White House party. They were joined shortly by Secretary and Mrs. McAdoo, Dr. and Mrs. Cary Grayson and Vance McCormick, and received many a distinguished caller in their box during the evening. Mrs. Wilson's party, which included her mother, Mrs. Bolling, and her sister, Miss Bolling, was a very chic and attractive group. They were seated at a table with many strands of crystal beads, and she carried a great sheaf of pink roses and orchids.

Secretary and Mrs. McAdoo, the latter in a becoming blue frock, lingered late among the dancers, and as I was leaving after the band played "Home, Sweet Home"—I saw Miss Bones waiting under the portico for her machine.

Ball at Its Height. It was while the ball was at its height, that the President and his party arrived, and as the members of the floor committee were marshaling the guests to form an aisle for their entrance I heard one pompous individual exclaim, "Put the men in front, put the men in front." Did he think, I wonder, that in their black coats and buttonhole boutonniers they made a more imposing array, or did he fear there were suffragists concealed in the ranks of feminine guests?

The boxes, with their crimson hangings, made a picturesque background for many a gay party. Mrs. Christian Hauge, who looked like the very girl in her French blue tulle frock, had the big one next the President's and had among her guests the Spanish ambassador and Mrs. Riano, Mrs. Charles Anderson, Senator-elect and Mrs. Peter Goetz, Mrs. Lars Anderson, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman and Mr. Constantini, of the Greek legation.

Stunning Gowns. Mrs. Gerry danced and danced, and in her stunning gown of silver brocade made a lovely picture on the floor. Charming little Mrs. William A. Slater, Jr., who was so much the rage in Washington last winter, was with Mr. and Mrs. Akel Wichefeld in their box, and I also saw Miss Anne Tracey, J. Pierpont Morgan's young kinswoman, who was here in the spring attending the National Service School at Chevy Chase.

In a certain corner box, which seemed to be a magnet for the men I saw at one time or another, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins, Miss Julia Meyer, her sister, Mrs. Raymond Rodgers, whose lovely cloth of silver gown had a very chic garniture of beaded roses; Miss Eleanor Morgan, and Gerald May.

Mrs. George Barnett wore one of the loveliest costumes of the evening, a trained gown of corn-colored satin, headed in black and gold in an elaborate and graceful design of palm leaves.

Guests of Fahnstock. With General Barnett and her sister, Mrs. Henry Mustin, she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Gibson Fahnstock. Dr. Charles Clinton Swisher was also in the party.

Mr. and Mrs. William McClellan Ritter had a box party, their guests including Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Cobb, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Spencer. Mrs. Ritter wore a most becoming frock

EATING MEAT REGULAR CLOGS THE KIDNEYS, THEN YOUR BACK HURTS

Flush your Kidneys occasionally with a tablespoonful of Salts to avoid danger.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders. You simply must keep your kidneys active and clear. Jad Salts, a famous, well-known, old-fashioned, reliable salt, gets about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here.

of blue tulle and tridescant sequins over cloth of silver, made with quaint bell-shaped sleeves. Mrs. Roscoe Bulmer and Mr. and Mrs. George A. Garrett were with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Vandergift and Justice Miss Amy Mahlon Pitney were with Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Glover and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Glover, Jr.

The Secretary of State and Mrs. Lansing, who were among the early arrivals, were with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lombard.

Other Guests.

Their other guests were Mrs. John B. Henderson, John B. Henderson, Jr., and the Misses A. Water. Just a few names and then I must tell you about some of the dinners which preceded the ball—Viscount and Viscountess de Sibur, the Clarke Waggamans, the Randall Hagners, Major and Mrs. William Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Ashton G. Clapham, Mr. and Mrs. Julian Bolling, Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Day, of Milwaukee, who are stopping at the Willard; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bruce Howe, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Frederic R. Harris, Congressman and Mrs. Henry D. Flood, who visited among the boxes; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jennings, and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Chapin.

The Swedish Minister and Mme. Ekengren, Lieut. Comdr. J. Dorcas Jackson and his fiancée, Miss Dorcas Barthe, made up an interesting little party; Miss Lucy Mackall, Miss McCarty, Miss Elsie Lejeune, Miss Anne Blackwood, Mr. Mackall, Mr. Mason and Mr. Brown were together, and I saw Miss Marie Stearns at one of the tables, wearing a dainty white tulle frock and holding a great green feather-fan which she held open; Miss Suzanne Chase, the Misses Tuttle, Miss Alice Shepard, Miss Katherine Goodwin, Miss Margaret Clark, Richard Whiteley, Dr. Adam Kemble, Larkin Glazebrook, Delos Smith, Lieut. Clement Heth and Pendleton Turner.

Dinner Before Ball. Congressman and Mrs. Charles B. Ward gave a dinner before the ball, their guests including Congressman and Mrs. Luther Mott, Congressman and Mrs. Homer Snyder, Mrs. Theall, Congressman Walter M. Chandler, Mrs. William Stone, of New York; Congressman and Mrs. James S. Parker, and Congressman and Mrs. S. Wallace Dempsey.

The Assistant Solicitor of the State Department and Mrs. Hampton Gary were hosts at dinner, going later with their guests to the ball. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Skelton Williams, former Gov. and Mrs. Joseph W. Folk, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. McChord, Col. and Mrs. William W. Harts, and Mr. and Mrs. Milton C. Elliott.

William E. Fowler's Guests.

William E. Fowler, who gave a dinner at the Willard for Miss Edith Koon and her fiancée, Wilbur J. Carr, director of the Consular Bureau, had a box at the ball afterward. His guests at dinner and at the ball were Senator Kenneth McKellar, Congressman and Mrs. Ira C. Copely, Congressman C. Hanson Simpson, Congressman Sidney Mudd, Judge and Mrs. Charles H. Robb, Commissioner and Mrs. Oliver P. Newman, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kaufmann, Mr. and Mrs. Beale R. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Pope, Miss Agnes Hart, William E. Amy Bennett, Miss Alice Page, Miss Leah Stock, Mrs. Dan Murphy, of Texas, and John Barrett.

Miss Adams Entertains.

Miss Mary Adams had guests for dinner before the ball, entertaining in compliment to her guest, Miss Rosalie McMichen, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Titus, of San Francisco had with them Senator and Mrs. Key Pittman, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Reginald Nicholson, Captain and Mrs. Harlow, Mr. and Mrs. Mary, former American Ambassador to Russia; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kaufmann, Mr. and Mrs. Beale R. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Pope, Miss Agnes Hart, William E. Amy Bennett, Miss Alice Page, Miss Leah Stock, Mrs. Dan Murphy, of Texas, and John Barrett.

After dinner they attended the theater and came on late to the ball. Mrs. James W. Wadsworth, Jr., was extremely handsome in turquoise blue velvet with billowy tulle of the same shade about the bodice and sleeves. The bodice was finished with silver lace and she wore silver slippers and a superb string of pearls. Mrs. Thomas Gale wore burgundy satin and tulle, with lace on the bodice; Mrs. Mahlon Pitney was in cloth of silver, draped with sapphire blue tulle; Mrs. Horace Westcott wore a tulle gown of cloth of silver. John Crayke Simpson wore delicate white lace over cloth of silver, with a train of blue velvet brocade in silver; Mrs. C. C. Glover, Jr., wore a charming gown of pale gray tulle and satin.

They made up the receiving line and introductions were made by Alexander Legare, chairman of the floor committee, and William Marrow, vice chairman, alternating.

The Mother of These Four Children Always Gives Them Father John's Medicine When They Have a Cold or Get Run Down.

"Last winter my oldest boy got so bad with a cold that I thought it would settle on his lungs as he was not very strong. He took a very bad cough, coughed all night long; could not sleep at night and began to lose flesh. I gave him Father John's Medicine and he began to mend so I gave it to him until he got well and strong. I think it is the best medicine there is for colds and run down people. I give it to all my children when they take a cold. I will not be without it in my house in the winter time." (Signed) Mrs. Elsie Fahn, 830 South Senate Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.

Many mothers agree that for colds and coughs there is nothing that can possibly equal Father John's Medicine, which has had over 60 years of success, because it is pure and wholesome—a food tonic.—Advt.

POULTRY-PIGEON SHOW OPENS HERE

Exhibit Said to Be Largest of Kind Ever Held in National Capital.

The National Capital Poultry and Pigeon Association opened its fifth annual show today, in the Union building, Sixth and G streets northwest, with the largest list of entries ever recorded here.

In the list of entries there are 810 classes in 142 varieties of poultry and 532 classes in 138 varieties of pigeons. In addition to entries from nearly every State east of the Mississippi the Department of Agriculture and the Postoffice Department have installed large displays.

500 Feet of Floor Space.

The display from the Department of Agriculture, which covers more than 500 feet of floor space, is the same exhibit sent to the Madison Square Garden poultry show, in New York city. Harry Lamon, poultry husbandman of the department, is in charge of the exhibit with a corps of assistants. The object of this exhibit is to teach the public to raise better poultry and to produce eggs at a minimum cost.

The exhibit of the Postoffice Department contains crates and various styles of containers for shipment by parcel post.

Interesting Features.

An exhibit of Rhode Island Reds, said to be the largest of its kind ever shown in the East, and a large entry of pit games are interesting features.

Among the prominent breeders who are exhibiting are H. F. McQueney, Edward Tait, Cassidy & Hanna, James E. Folk, and A. Campbell, of this locality; E. Woodruff, of Richmond, Va.; William Garth, of Charlottesville, Va.; A. T. Gathony, of Warrenton, Va.; John E. Madden, of Hamburg, Ky.; L. Carson, of New Orleans; Col. John Maddigan, of Buffalo, N. Y.; and William Weinbrenner, of Frederick, Md.
